What is Keren Ringler's strategy for success?

Commitment. Creativity. Connection.

Even early in her professional career, it was obvious that Keren Ringler would be a success in whatever field she chose. What you might not realize is that prior to earning her reputation as a Manhattan real estate expert, Keren spent 15 years conducting cancer research at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Hospital. Within the halls of Sloan-Kettering, excellence comes with the territory. Those powerful experiences in such a demanding environment set the tone for Keren's future professional excellence.

A native of South Africa, Keren earned her master's degree in science summa cum laude and developed a "strategy for success" that fuels her to this day. Her approach is based on commitment, creativity and connections. And when it comes to buying or selling a Manhattan residence or investment property, those trademark qualities will surely lead you to success as well.

Keren diligently works with you every step of the way. Her approach is simple: informed, discrete and professional.

■ Commitment.

Keren's understanding of the significance of a home sale or purchase is at the heart of her every action. From medical research to real estate to her personal pursuits, Keren brings the same level of exceptional dedication and integrity. With Keren at your side during the process of buying or selling a home, you'll sense her strict commitment to your personal and financial goals every step of the journey. That commitment also translates into a rare persistence that ensures you achieve your objectives.

For her, real estate goes far beyond the sale or purchase of a property. More importantly, it is about the satisfaction of her clients. Keren is highly sensitive to the importance of the decision to buy or sell a home.

■ Creativity.

As a trained researcher, Keren is curious and analytical by nature. She's not one to settle for the status quo, instead always striving for innovation. In real estate, that equates to leading-edge marketing techniques that ensure

"I put people first in my life. My clients are no exception. When it comes to something as important as buying or selling your home, I am committed to helping you achieve success."

your property receives maximum exposure, as well as advanced Web-based technologies to keep abreast of ever-fluctuating market conditions in order to accurately gauge and predict market values.

■ Connection.

Real estate is nothing without connections. Keren is not only adept at developing strong rapport with her clients, but her connections stretch far and wide throughout the real estate community. Drawing upon nearly two decades of local knowledge, Keren is an expert resource in Manhattan real estate who builds lasting relationships with clients and colleagues alike. Her network of buyers and sellers, sound judgment, integrity and professionalism are just a sampling of why the vast majority of her business comes from referrals and repeat clients.

Quite simply, combining an international worldview with a commitment to excellence and her real estate experience, Keren delivers results. If you're considering the sale or purchase of a townhome, condo, co-op or investment property, turn to Keren Ringler and her proven strategy for success – Commitment. Creativity. Connection.
